His Sun Sees Much The Time to Buy All-America Free Trade Socks for Somalia

President Roosevelt's program that day lost whose low deserving sun views from his hand employment job begun.

The latest big Roosevelt enterprise, just launched, will develop the great Tennessee Basin and put work Muscle Shoals, a power plant built with the people's money.
For years Senator Norris of Nebraska, Republican, has demanded that power from the Muscle Shoals be sold at a fair price to provide "a yardstick" for charges by other companies. That Republican plan, which he swings in main stream "sound Republican party nationalism," is to be carried out by a Democratic President.
The "yardstick" will not suit all electric companies.

"Circumstances alter cases," that in peace times is a crime, that, in killing strangers, becomes patriotic virtue when war comes, and killing strangers becomes a nation's business.

Similarly, in this war of depression, what might be called "extra-vigilance" in better times, changes to "helpful spending and encouragement of business."

Those able to spend should spend now, even though they strain a point to do it. To refrain from buying things that you want or things that you need, when you have the money, is another form of hoarding.

Every dollar put in circulation now does duty doubly and quickly, whether it be used for refreshing, wardrobe, new household equipment, furniture, automobiles, renovating, painting and other improving houses. All money spent now, is literally patriotic spending.

President Roosevelt suggests:
"Abolish all unnecessary artificial barriers and restrictions which now hamper the healthy flow of trade between the peoples of the American republics."

This would mean doing away with tariffs, from Tierra del Fuego, north through South America, Central America and Mexico up to Canada's border.

Canada, not being a republic, but a nation, would be an exception.

Right to annex the United States, a majority vote ruling both countries. That would be highly acceptable here, and then there might be free trade from the North to the South Seas on both American continents. That in the language of Amos and Andy, would be "sump" for Europe, Asia and Africa to think about.

Airplanes simplify the troubles of nations that rule "inferior peoples."

In French Somaliland, rebellious Abyssinian tribes threaten trouble.
There is no need now to march French soldiers in red pantaloons, making excellent targets, across desert sands.

France sends an airplane carrier-loaded with airplanes, each airplane loaded with bombs and machine guns. Shortly after they view and hear those airplanes, the rebellious Abyssinians will feel less rebellious, and will be running in many directions, while the Frenchmen, smiling down on them, will probably not have a scratch. A new kind of war has come, and sooner or later, this country will learn that it exists. Let us hope it will be sooner, before we play the part of "rebellious Abyssinians."

Italy reports an airplane speed of 131 miles per hour. Mussolini's government may be poor in cash, compared to some others, but it isn't poor in common sense and spends courageously where national safety is concerned. How pitiful our American air mark seems compared with this Italian speed, that the equator is sixty hours. In Italy the government promotes aviation and supplies the necessary money, making tests that will mean air supremacy.

England also has the aviation intelligence, lacking here, and has not hesitated to spend one million dollars and more preparing for one single race for the "Schneider Cup."

Of importance to newspaper publishers, and owners of fire insurance in the State of Washington, is the news that fifteen-year-old fire trees can be used to make white newspaper paper. This will make possible a crop of fire every fifteen years, instead of every forty years, while preserving forests and their usefulness by scientific management.

The State of Georgia is interested in the manufacture of newspaper and other fine white paper from young pine trees, under scientific forestry.

The inventor of the electric death chair, Dr. Alphonso David Rockwell, is dead, 32 years of age. He invented the chair, and his invention works well, but it did not add to the dignity of science to substitute the electric current for the hangman, the headman, with his axe, or the efficient guillotine.

Barter Plans Helping Needy

When a man is so sincere in his efforts to be self supporting that he will join an organization which barter his labor for foodstuffs, there can be no doubt that he is deserving of help and sympathy.

Five hundred and eighty such men are registered with Unemployment Council No. 2, with headquarters on Hoffman street in Pacific Grove, under the management of Dan Coon, of Carmel Woods.

About 100 of these men are working each day out of the council, going out to trade their labor for things which may be used by the whole organization. If some truck gardener has an oversupply of cabbage, he may call in some workers and pay them in cabbage.
Or someone may have furniture, clothes, or anything of value which they can not use themselves but which can be used by others.
A call to 6767 at Pacific Grove will bring a worker to their home to trade labor for the articles. All clothing, furniture and such, as well as food, is turned into the council and allotted from there.

One meal a day is furnished at headquarters, the noon meal. Each worker is checked off the day's list as he enters the dining room and after seven days, he must re-register. He will be dropped from membership if he fails to report without good cause.

The men in charge stated there had been no rowdiness which is remarkable considering that every man there is under a financial strain.

The Carmel Sun folk had the pleasure of being guests at the noon meal Tuesday of Mr. and Mrs. Coon at headquarters. The meal was well cooked and wholesome and served from a spotlessly clean kitchen and dining room by men dressed in clean white clothes. The menu for the day was roast beef, dressing, mashed potatoes and gravy with coffee and milk.

A visit to the barter council reveals a variety of all kinds, while great cans of milk were on hand in the milk house.

Another large room is used for passing out the food to the workers. The items of available food are written on a large blackboard and the laborer must give in the list of the things he requires before 1 o'clock. The boxes are made up and are taken away by the owners after the day's work is done.

The women's department, under direction of Mrs. Coon, has a building to itself and Tuesday were working on eight dresses to be worn by dancers at the Midnight show in Monterey Saturday night for the benefit of the unemployed.

The council, however, does not come under the term "unemployed" and receives no benefit from any funds taken up for those needing help. The men want to support themselves.

Consequently, when you have any work you can throw their way, call 6767 at Pacific Grove.
They can furnish any help from day laborer to bookkeeper.

Just remember, call 6767, Unemployed Council No. 2. overlook the column by Arthur Brisbane.

news the reporters have gathered

SUNSET BALL TEAM BEATS MONTEREY 2-1

Sunset School played a great game against Monterey Grammar school. Johnny Sheridan was the star and pitched great ball and batted in fine style.

The Monterey team led with a score of 1 to 0 until the final inning then Sunset tied the score and won in the extra inning. Monterey had a fine pitcher and catcher and the whole team showed fine sportsmanship. When Grammar kids can play a 2 to 1 game that's darn good baseball in anyman's lot. A big crowd watched the game and got a great "kick" out of it. Carmel realizes Sunset School plays great ball and wants to encourage them as much as possible. Tal Josselyn and Doc Stanford umpired the game and got by without any protests whatever and that speaks more than words what clean cut kids come from grammar school these days.

EASTER VACATIONISTS FAVORED BY WEATHER

The many Easter vacationists who crowded Carmel for three weeks preceding Sunday, were favored by delightful weather and the beaches were crowded with sun worshippers.

A cold wind, however, was different brand of weather Monday, however, and snow was found on Toro and some hail fell in the early morning here. A cold wind blew throughout the day, with showers and sunshine alternating.

Monday evening saw an end to the showers and the sunshine was in full force again Tuesday.

McCREERY'S ESCAPE INJURY IN ACCIDENT

Although their car was completely demolished when they hit a telephone pole at Carmelo and Santa Lucia last Thursday night, P. A. McCreery and wife escaped without injury.

Mr. and Mrs. McCreery were returning home from a party on Carmel Point and failed to note the fog in the intersection consequently striking a telephone pole with their back fender, turning the car completely over and around.

GOT INTO SEVENTEEN MILE DRIVE BY STRATEGY

How Terry, the family dog of the E. G. Pinkham family, got into the Seventeen Mile Drive when away last week, will probably always remain a mystery. "I am positive he did not have 50 cents with him when he left home," said Mr. Pinkham.

Nevertheless, after the family had agonized for several days over Terry's absence, he was returned as good as new by the driver for a local grocery, who found him wandering along in the drive.

TOM MORGAN HAS SOME FINE POTTERY, HANDMADE

Tom Morgan, who has been making pottery for some time under the tutelage of Mrs. Gertrude Wall and E. R. Calley, has some excellent pieces to show for his work.

He has used his artistic talent to make the vases, candlesticks, cups, bowls etc., into odd and pleasing shapes and has a collection now on display at the studio of his sister, M. DeNeale Morgan on Lincoln. His work shows quite a lot of distinctive individuality.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Wednesday was Dorothy Nixon's ninth birthday and the occasion was celebrated by a dinner party at her home on Dolores and Ninth from 5:30 to 7. Her guests were Bobbie and Alyce Holm and Frances Walters.

Organize to Fight Chain Stores

"United we stand, divided we fall, into the hands of the chain store owners," so say the independent merchants of the state of California.

After prolonged lethargy during which time chain stores made great strides throughout the state and forced out many independent dealers, the home owned stores are coming to the front, educating the public to the benefits of keeping their money in the state and of receiving full value for their money.

Salinas, Monterey, New Monterey and Pacific Grove are organized and Carmel is next on the list.

No one can force another to spend his money wisely but he can point out the benefits so that each one will want to put his money where it will work for his ultimate good.

Have you thought about it?
Are you going against your own interests.

CARMEL BOYS RELEASED ON PAROLE SATURDAY

Appeared before Judge Jorgenson in Salinas Saturday and pleaded guilty to having taken a statue from the yard of Fred Wermuth January 13 and placing it on Ocean avenue, and were paroled to their parents. The other two were absent from Carmel and will appear at a later date.

The charge against the boys was malicious mischief. Damages to the amount of $500 were claimed by the plaintiff and this was not settled at Saturday's trial.

LOCAL BOYS ORGANIZING CARMEL BOXING CLUB

For the past three weeks Bob Smith and Frank Dalton have been trying to organize a boxing club for the young men of the village.
They interrogated the Manzanita Club in building a gymnasium for them, after they had signed up twenty-seven members, but it was discovered that the by-laws of the club forbid the installation of any equipment that must be fastened to the walls, floor or ceilings.

The boys are undecided at present as to what their next move will be. The directors of the club discussed at their last meeting the possibility of using the vacant lot next door to them, but no decision was reached.

Anyone interested in helping out the project, with ideas or equipment, can get in touch with either Bob Smith or Frank Dalton.
Membership in the club is one dollar a month, the first two months payable in advance.

ning this week and contin-

HENRY POST DROWNED IN KLAMATH MONDAY

Word was received here this week that Henry Post, a property owner in the Monterey Peninsula Country Club district was drowned in the Klamath River Monday.
Mr. Post was a mining engineer.
He was attempting to run a high line, or cable across a rough section of the river in order to ferry his equipment over to a mining claim on the other side, when he slipped. He was seen for a distance of about a hundred feet, and then disappeared from sight.

Mr. Post was a graduate of Stanford University, class of 1912, and was a prominent athlete and crew man.

CITY COUNCIL MEETS IN CALLED SESSION

For the reading of the resolution calling for a referendum vote on the beer question to be held in Carmel May 15th, the city council met in a special session Wednesday evening at 5 o'clock.

The propositions as had been previously decided were under three heads; first, should Carmel sell beer under regulations of the council; second, should the grocery stores and drug stores be allowed to sell it, and third, should it be served in hotels and restaurants.

With the action taken by the legislature, which seems almost certain of passing, whereby the regulation of the sale would be in the hands of a commission, the only thing left for Carmel to vote upon is "Shall Carmel be wet or dry."

Consequently, when you go to the polls May 15, you will vote on the following proposition only: Shall the sale of malt and vinous beverages, authorized for beverage purposes under the National Prohibition act, as amended, be made lawful in the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, under such reasonable regulations as the council thereof may prescribe?

INTERESTING CARMEL

Interesting things about Carmel
M. DeNeale Morgan
An Artist of Ability

"I have painted for years and have worked steadily," said Miss M. DeNeale Morgan to the editor of Carmel Sun when we visited her at her studio Saturday. And Miss Morgan's work shows that finish which can be attained only by untiring effort, connected with great talent. Miss Morgan goes out to sketch nearly every morning during pretty weather and she chooses typically California scenes not having any great urge to paint a scene which might be "just anywhere," as she puts it. Her Monterey cypresses and the coast line scenes are painted with a vigorous stroke which brings out the ruggedness of this section as well as its beauty and charm.

Miss Morgan's name on an oil painting means something, and her pictures find a ready sale.

Miss Morgan has recently painted some of the gorgeous poppy fields of this section. Having heard of the great abundance of poppies in the valley she drove to that section Friday, but could find none with the brilliant backgrounds she finds in Carmel Valley.

Miss Culbertson Is Pioneer Artist Here

Among the artists who came to Carmel in the early days and helped to preserve the glamour of the place is Miss Culbertson, whose studio is located at Seventh and Lincoln. Carmel Sun folk enjoyed a visit with Miss Culbertson Saturday and were delighted with her pictures. She uses both oils and water colors as mediums and has some wonderful pictures in both.

Coming from Brooklyn, Miss Culbertson has many scenes painted in the East of beautiful meadows and lovely lakes.

Notables Entertained at Valley Home of Robert Fisher

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fisher in Carmel Valley was the scene of a most interesting party Thursday afternoon when seventy-five friends were invited in to meet Sinclair Lewis, writer, Walter Hampden, actor, and Lester Donahue, pianist, three men outstanding in their work today.

Mr. Hampden, with his wife, is a house guest at the home of his mother, Mrs. J. Hampden Dougherty, in Carmel Highlands.

The Fish home was beautifully decorated in colorful spring flowers and the guests were delighted with several selections played by Mr. Donahue.

Besides the guests of honor, the following were present:

Mrs. Robinson Jeffers, Dr. and Mrs. D. T. MacDougal, Mabel Dodge Lehan, The Honorable Dorothy Brett, Mr. and Mrs.
Frank Sheridan, Ruth Marlon,

HAVE YOU SEEN JERRY?

PLEASE PHONE SUN, 70

"Madam, may I ask what is that dog's name?" said Elizabeth Brenner, who was on the lookout for a lost dog belonging to a friend, as she approached a lady leading a rather unwilling Scotch terrier.
"What's that to you?" replied the haughty lady. "Are you sure it isn't Jerry?" She insisted. And by taking to her heels she was able to save herself.

If you see a white Scotch terrier, with black markings, please you go about finding out whose

Growers Plan Economy
According to Arthur Shultis, farm management extension specialist at the University of California, State orchardists may solve the problem of low prices by eliminating some of the "Tues and Thurs" that seemed necessary to fruit growing during the years of prosperity. "Fruit growers may meet new conditions by utilizing available family labor, by buying fertilizer and other materials in the present low market and by cutting down on non-essential operations such as brush disposal, cultivation and preparation for irrigation," stated Mr. Shultis.

Pressley, who is also a director of the annual Spanish Days Fiesta in Santa Barbara. The celebration was inaugurated three years ago to keep alive the romance and history of San Fernando Mission, one of the historic show places in the Valley. Each year the proceeds of the pageant are added to a fund for the ultimate restoration of the several historic buildings.

Power Consumption Increased
Few districts in the country have made so enviable a record in "beating" the depression as has the Pacific Coast. From practically every standpoint, this territory has kept its morale up and its eyes on the goal of "back to prosperity" throughout the trying days of the past two years. That this progress is now being accelerated, and that general industry is moving forward more definitely is indicated by the figures showing increasing consumption of electric power on the Pacific Coast as compared with the country as a whole. Since March 31 reports from various sections indicate that the improvement in trade and industry which set in immediately after the reopening of banks is becoming more pronounced. Consequently, a further gain in electric power production, especially on the Pacific Coast, in the opinion of trade observers, is a nearly probability.

In the consolidated income account issued to the Railroad Commission recently it was revealed that the San Joaquin Light and Power Corporation for the period ending December 31, 1932, showed a deficit of $3721 in net income after commercial and industrial expenses, taxes and rentals, and compared with a deficit of $15,576 for the same period a year ago. Net operating revenue of the utility company for the reporting period totaled $316,750 as against $323,034 for December, 1931.

SPORTS NEWS of the WEEK

ABALONE LEAGUE

By Doc Stanford

The flowers that bloom in the spring trail must have done something to the base-ball games Sunday after all. First of all the Pilots won a very one sided contest from the Tigers. Files held them scoreless until the final inning then got generous and gave them a couple of runs. The Pilots just breezed in winning 11 to 2. The Pilots made runs by good smart playing. Heavy hitting in the pinches was responsible for the Pilots' victory with good pitching in the part of Ed Files. The Pilots and Giants will play next Sunday and if the Pilots win this contest they will be the champs of the Community Section. Next on the list came the Giants and Shamrock battle, finally won by the Giants in eight innings, 17 to 16. This game was a slam bang affair with plenty of excitement. After the Shamrocks tied the score in the seventh they came right back and scored four more in the eighth but the Giants were not to be denied and climbed all over the Shamrocks knocking five runs over the soap plate and grabbed the old ball game. Tom Crosswaite suddenly came to life and socked a clean hit to right field driving in the tying run, then Francis Brewer, girl outfielder for the Giants, brought Tom in with the winning run. So ended one of the most exciting games ever played in Abalone league. Roy Goodrich, Shamrock shortstop, met with a painful accident injuring his right hand so badly it was necessary to have several stitches taken but was game enough to finish the game. Roy played a fine game and certainly helped his team. One of the outstanding features was the playing of Miss Wilson, a newcomer in the Shamrock line-up. She gave a fine exhibition of fielding and batting.

Barderson, captain of the Giants, had a perfect day at the bat getting five hits out of five times up. Both teams hit hard and also played good and bad in the field. The Giants by winning this game clinched second place and of course will play the Pilots in the final games of the season. The Shamrocks have been the tough luck team of this section all season. Gale Alderson is a good captain and had he started Art Hilbert pitching at the beginning of the season the Shamrocks would have probably won more games. The Giants have played good ball all season and have a good team spirit. That of course help any team. The days final game was a sort of an upset when the Manzanita beat the strong Del Monte club 11 to 6. Manzanita club played a good steady game and hit well behind Ivan Kelsey's good pitching. The game was featured by Hop Hasty's brilliant fielding who made some spectacular catches out in left field. Hilbert in center field made a hair-raising one handed catch of a hard hit line drive and Don Chew, Manzanita captain played a great game for his team. Today's victory gives the Manzanita club an outside chance to win first place. So this leaves three teams still in the race in the Club section with the Peninsula Country club in first place. All games will be played on the Abalone field for the rest of the season.

CARMEL PISTOL CLUB

WINE SHOOT

Last Sunday the Carmel Pistol Club won a 1004 to 1010 victory over a team from the American Trust Co. Pistol Club. The Carmel team consisted of H. Martin, D. Ball, G. Wood, J. Williams, and C. Tarr. A second team consisting of L. Johnson, E. Polken, H. Warren, C. Guth, and E. Walls defeated the American Trust second team 812 to 858.

It is the policy of the large city banks to train their employees in pistol shooting so that in case of a hold-up they will be able to defend themselves without endangering the lives of legitimate customers. The American Trust Co. Pistol Club is a large and active organization, so this victory speaks well for local marksmen. Beginning Tuesday evening April 25th, the Carmel club will practice shooting at night, using artificial light in preparation for a match with the Anaconda Pistol Club, Anaconda, Montana, to take place in the middle of May. The match will consist of five strings of five shots each at twenty yards, using .22 caliber target pistols and firing at the Standard American Target having a 10-ring 1.12 inches in diameter.

Matches with clubs at a distance from one another are commonly fired as postal matches; that is the fired targets are exchanged by mail. The Carmel club is fortunate to include among its members Colonel Clare Foster, well known radio enthusiast, who is planning a match with some club located near a short wave radio set so that the results can be exchanged by radio as the scores are fired. It is therefore not impossible that in the future, the local club will be scheduled matches with the Swiss Free Pistol experts, or even some of the Soviet Amazons.

DOWN FROM A GOBLER TO A DUCK A YARD

A Carmelite originally from the "Old South" gives the following which is of special interest in these times of the return of the barter system:

The practice of barter now so prevalent over this country, which has been brought about on account of the scarcity of coin of the realm in the present depression, is in no way comparable to that time of panic in 1893-96, when money was a medium of exchange was almost unknown. At least in certain sections of the south, where only death is sure and taxes are but probable, the outflow of money from those sections had left the population with no other medium of exchange but farm and dairy products.

This panic occurred during the administration of Grover Cleveland, whose election had been ushered in by the joyous population with the booming of cannon, or such cannon as the old blacksmith improvised for this purpose, and since Grover Cleveland was the first Democratic president the South had seen since the Civil war, pyrotechnics was the order of the day. The said administration was ushered out in a debacle similar to that which recently happened to President Hoover.

In a little Tennessee town by the name of Sparta, and called "Sparta" by the natives in the community, the scarcity of money as a medium of exchange had reached the vanishing point. The only thing left for them was to barter their farm products for their household needs. You would often overhear the farmers and their wives in conversation, as their wagon teams plodded along the dusty country roads, and little snatches of their conversation would run along thusly:

"George, it's too bad that it cost me a chicken a yard for that calico I bought for my spring dress. What are the times coming to," "Yes," replied George, "and that silk I bought for Aunt Ruby. Why the man at the store had the nerve to ask me a gobbler a yard for it, but I got the best of the bargain for I jewed him down to a duck a yard. It took nearly two pounds of butter to get one bottle of Levi Garrett's Scotch snuff."

"I notice," says Mrs. George, "that a good many of the school children come in the store and buy an egg's worth of candy."

TONY LUHAN DELIGHTED AUDIENCE WITH SONGS

The Denny-Watrous gallery was unusually crowded Saturday night by eager listeners who went to hear Tony Luhan, Taos Pueblo Indian, give the songs of his own and other tribes, accompanying himself on his ancient drum.

The evening was quite informal as Mr. Luhan told of how the songs originated and gave many interesting facts concerning his people.

SEASIDE YOUTHS TRIED FOR SUITCASE THEFT

As a climax to the theft of a suitcase from the car of two San Francisco ladies who were visiting in Carmel several weeks ago, Martin Soto was paroled and three youths who were associated with him were sent to the reform school in Salinas Saturday.

It will be remembered that the fur coat was taken from the suitcase and was found by officers buried in a yard in Seaside.

BETSY ANNE FOOD SHOP TO MOVE TO DOLORES

The first of May will be moving day for the Home Cooked Food Shop, now located on Seventh, between Dolores and San Carlos. Mrs. Stone and Mrs. Brown will move their delightful little restaurant and delicatessen to the building next door to El Fumidor.

They feel the need of more room, and for some time have been contemplating a move that would put them in a better location.

"Strange Interlude" At Carmel Theatre

By J. A. Kunzman

When America's greatest dramatist, Eugene O'Neill created "Strange Interlude" he conceived a startling but honest search into the soul of a woman thwarted by hunger for a love she could never hope to satisfy.

He flung aside the traditions of the modern theatres, and for two years New York theatre audiences wildly applauded his genius and courage. Nothing like it had ever been seen in dramatic history.

Now comes Norma Shearer to bring this tense, gripping woman, Nina Leeds, the woman with the warped soul, to the speaking screen. Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has adapted NORMA SHEARER "Strange Interlude" to film form with Miss Shearer as the star. The Carmel theatre presents "Strange Interlude" Sunday and Monday April 23-24. So unusual is the picture it must be seen from the beginning in order to fully appreciate the times of showing are Sunday matinee at 2:48 and at night at 7:18 and 9:25.

Four characters, three men and a woman lay bare their thoughts and emotions in O'Neill's strange and gripping tale. The woman of course is Miss Shearer. The men are Clark Gable, Ralph Morgan, CLARK GABLE and Alexander Kirkland. Other noted screen players in the cast are as follows: May Robson, Robert Young, Maureen O'Sullivan and H. B. Walthall.

Not only dramatically, but technically, "Strange Interlude" lays claim to greatness. For the first time the hidden thoughts as well as the spoken words of the players are heard on the screen. Through this medium the great O'Neill was able to show the psychological forces working within the minds of his characters, and the screen makes full use of this to an extent which the original stage version could not attain.

BENEFIT FOR CHURCH AT LAUMEISTER HOME

Mrs. G. Laumeister is opening her beautiful home on Dolores, near Santa Lucia on Friday afternoon for a Bridge and Tea for the benefit of the Carmel Community church.

Bridge players are requested to telephone 690W of 178J to make reservations for tables.

From friends who drop in between four and six, a silver offering will be gratefully received and to them delicious tea will be served by Mrs. Laumeister and her assistants.

CARMEL FOLK ARE TO TAKE PART IN PROGRAM

One of the many features to be presented by the "Mid-Nite Players" in their Midnight Revue, to be held at the Golden State theatre a week from tomorrow night, for the relief of peninsula unemployment, will be "The Still Alarm," from the "First Little Show," a New York production by George Kaufman.

The cast includes Leo Jones, Kevin Wallace, Ronald Cockburn and Bob Fender, all of Carmel, and will be produced under the direction of Galt Bell, director of the Carmel Community Players. Other attractions will include Mike Marotta, "world's smallest accordion player," and Clarence Micalizio, popular jazz soloist.

Money raised by efforts of the Mid-Nite players and associate artists will be placed in custody of C. A. Metz at the First National bank, and net proceeds will be distributed for relief of the local unemployed residents by a committee composed of Mrs. Sidney Fish and T. A. Dorney.

Headquarters have been opened at 413 Alvarado street, telephone, 1521, where tickets are now available. — Monterey Herald.

Not until the nineteenth century was well advanced was there any public school system in the United States. In England, Joseph Lancaster established at Southwark a free school for the poor. De Witt Clinton became interested in public education in New York and instigated the Public School society. The Lancasterian system by that time was known in America and was adopted. The principle on which it operated provided a teacher aided by monitors selected from the pupils as they advanced. As many as 1,000 pupils were instructed by one teacher and these assistants.

Size of Balsam Trees
Trees of the balsam genus occur in Puerto Rico, Cuba, Jamaica, Trinidad and elsewhere in the West Indies and in Honduras, British Honduras and Guatemala. They reach a height of from 40 to 60 feet and a diameter of from 1 to 3 feet. They attain their best development in open places in the forest and in abandoned fields along the water-courses, where there is considerable moisture. They grow rapidly. The lightest wood, which is considered the most desirable, is produced by the fastest-growing trees, which are said to attain a diameter of 12 to 18 inches in four or five years.

Two Brothers Were Governors
John and William Bigler were elected governors of their states, California and Pennsylvania, on the same day in 1851. Both were born in Pennsylvania, of German descent. John Bigler went to California at the time of the gold rush and was elected governor for two terms. He was born in 1804 and died in 1871. William Bigler was born in 1814 and died in 1880. He served as governor of Pennsylvania and also as United States senator from that state.

Loss Powers of Flight
After the young of whistling swans are hatched the parent birds moult so extensively that they lose their power of flight and are at the mercy of the natives who kill them in large numbers in their nesting areas in the Far North. The Canada geese, which also breed in Arctic regions, is another bird that frequently loses its powers of flight as the result of its heavy post-breeding season moult.

Bill of Wrybill Bends Sideways
The wrybill, an unusual plover of New Zealand, takes its name from the peculiar structure of its bill, which bends sideways near the top, always toward the right. The bird seems to benefit by this apparent deformity by being able to reach and obtain small crustaceans and other minute creatures which can creep under rocks out of the way of the straight bills of ordinary birds.

Dipper Bird Walks Under

Water in Search of Food

A small bird which has the appearance of a large wren and flies like a kingfisher is an extraordinary creature called the "dipper" from its habit of walking under water in search of food.

This bird is usually found around mountain streams. It cannot be mistaken, for its dark body with a snow-white breast shows it up at once.

No matter how fast the water may be dashing over boulders, you will see the dipper standing on a rock only a few inches above the swirling current, all the time dipping. It wishes to fly from one point to another on the river, and the stream twists and turns through wild moorland, the dipper does not take a short cut across country, but follows the course of the stream. Its food is found at the bottom of the river.

A noted English naturalist says that he has often watched a dipper drop into the fast-running water to disappear for nearly a minute, then it comes up with some dainty morsel in its beak. In clear rivers he has seen this bird walking on the bottom, where it faces up stream so that as it turns over the stones, the hidden creatures it is seeking are washed towards it.—Philadelphia Record.

Many Lacquer Shades Are

Available, but Not Named

To the man in the street, it has seemed that the number of individual automobile colors must be something close to infinite. It is not quite that bad, or good—which ever way one prefers to regard it—but figures show that 11,500 shades of lacquer have been developed, obviously far more than any genius could provide names for.

Just as a sample of the naming difficulty, take the color which the average mortal calls "gray." There are, the experts point out, 423 different values under this heading in the total list of 11,500. That, too, despite the fact that gray is not the most variable individual color.

It has been calculated that there is a considerable amount of waste in such profligacy in color creation. Even in the days when distinctive names was a thing for which motor car buyers clamored, the maximum number of shades in a single month was never more than 200.—Washington Post.

HILLS ARE CARPETED WITH WILD FLOWERS

Motorists who drove out in Carmel Valley or down the coast Sunday found a new beauty since the wild lilacs are now out in profusion and many other flowers of varied hues have made their appearance. Probably no place else in the world offers such wonderful foregrounds against such gorgeous backgrounds of green hills, also dotted here and there with patches of color due to masses of wild flowers. It is easily seen why Carmel is a haven for painters.

Rien N'est Beau Que la Vase (Nothing is so lovely as truth.)

A few weeks ago there was published in a local paper an article under the heading "Trees get haircut. Residents get view."

The writer of the article extolled the manner in which the trees on San Antonio street were trimmed. Stated they "bowed proudly to the wind after undergoing a thorough hair cutting and beautification process."

Cutting off the lower extremities of the trees did not give them a so-called hair cut, or enhance their beautification.

The tops of the trees remain scraggly and overgrown. The writer also stated the trees "have been carefully trimmed in an artistic manner."

The residents on the East side of San Antonio street by stooping now, can get a peek-under-squint of the ocean without much eye strain.

Cadit quaestio.
